

PLSC 197 / SODA 197N: Social Data, Technology, and Artificial Intelligence

Christopher Zorn

January 13, 2026

From the course description:

...Students will unpack how human-generated data is collected, structured, and transformed into machine learning models, discovering both the technical and human sides of AI. Through real-world case studies, interactive projects, and critical discussions, students will gain hands-on experience with data systems and analytics tools while examining the social, political, and ethical questions that surround AI in practice.

Course attributes:

- PLSC B.A. majors can use this course toward the 100-level-or-above requirement and the requirement for any political science or related area.
- PLSC (B.A. or B.S.) majors can receive GS credit if they register for the course as SODA 197N, since PLSC majors must take GS credits outside of the discipline of political science.
- SoDA majors can use this course toward the requirement of six credits of additional political science.

Various things:

- Course meetings: Tuesdays & Thursdays, 10:35-11:50 a.m. ET.
- Location is Willard 258
- No class on January 15 (conference) or March 10 & 12 (spring break)
- Teaching Assistant: Arif Memovic (aqm6729@psu.edu)
- Course materials: <https://github.com/PrisonRodeo/PLSC197-SP2026-git>

Grades will be based upon:

- Course attendance / participation: 100 points
- Three (of twelve possible) short assignments: 100 points each
- Two applied labs: 150 points each
- Final examination: 300 points

Other things:

- The grading scale is here.
- “Bounty Hunter” for extra credit (up to 20 points) – see the syllabus.
